

Specialty Welding Course Coming to RTEC!

Ag Welding

Training Designed for Farmers and Ranchers

Whether you operate a farm or ranch or you're the person responsible for keeping up with everyday repairs, the Regional Technical Education Center's 15-hour Ag Welding training will help you get the job done safely and efficiently while reducing down time.

During this special Saturday morning class, you will learn the proper techniques for repairing welding on just about anything that's found on a farm or ranch whether it's a gate, hinge, loader bucket or broken disc. You'll practice stick and mig welding techniques, learn how not to overweld, cover reinforcement techniques and discover how to be safe and avoid common hazards.

During this course, you will learn:

- basic metallurgy knowledge
- heat transfer
- electrode/wire selection
- multi position welding
- welding unlike materials
- welding castings
- proper gusset application
- how to determine welding settings
- electrical, PPE and environmental safety
