

BHSU Has Full-Time Representative at RTEC

Beginning this fall, Black Hills State University (BHSU) has a full-time representative on-site to help students interested in pursuing the new two-year Advanced Manufacturing Technology degree at the Regional Technical Education Center (RTEC) in Yankton.

Lisa Wittenhagen, an Admissions Counselor/College of Business & Technology, will help interested students with their enrollment, admissions and financial aid questions in addition to serving as an adjunct faculty member. She will spend some time traveling to regional high schools and college fairs, but Wittenhagen is generally available from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Although fall classes are in full swing, Wittenhagen says that registration for Spring 2010 classes is approaching and will be held from Nov. 2-20. New and returning students are asked to contact her for additional information. You can reach her by contacting RTEC at (605) 668-5700 or by emailing her at Lisa.Wittenhagen@BHSU.edu.

BHSU courses expected to be offered at RTEC during the Spring 2010 semester include:

- TECH 242 – Machining Processes
- TECH 210 – CAD 1
- TECH 262 – Energy Power and Transportation
- TECH 120 – Smart Buildings
- TECH 241 – Management and Leadership
- TECH 229 – Computer Hardware

Contact Wittenhagen with questions on the BHSU program offerings and watch for details on upcoming events.
